EXPORT TRADE BY COUNTRY

The Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce, reported today that U.S. exports of domestic and foreign merchandise including Special Category commodities and unadjusted for seasonal change decreased from $2,569.9 million in June to $2,428.5 million in July.[1] [2] Exports of Special Category commodities were valued at $123.8 million in July, little changed from the June total of $129.6 million.

Excluding Special Category commodities and unadjusted for seasonal change, U.S. exports declined from $2,440.4 million in June to $2,304.7 million in July. With the exception of a moderate rise in exports to the 20 Latin American Republics, exports to most world areas declined. The more notable decreases were registered in exports to Canada and O.E.C.D. countries in Europe.

On a continent basis, a similar pattern of change in exports occurred as decreases were reported in exports to all continents except South America and Australia and Oceania.

Among individual countries showing decreases in exports (in addition to Canada, as noted above) were Spain, Greece, Japan, United Arab Republic (Egypt), West Germany, Turkey, and Italy. Sizable increases were reported, however, in exports to Brazil, Pakistan, United Kingdom, and Taiwan (Formosa).

[1] See the July 1966 issue of Report FT 900-E for seasonally adjusted figures on total exports, excluding Military Assistance Program--Grant-Aid shipments. Seasonally adjusted data are not available for total exports including Military Assistance Program--Grant-Aid shipments or by country of destination.

[2] Month-to-month changes in exports and similar series often reflect primarily irregular movements. Cumulations of data over 3 or 4 month periods are desirable to identify underlying trends.

EXPLANATION OF STATISTICS

COVERAGE: Export statistics include government as well as nongovernment shipments to foreign countries. The export statistics, therefore, include Department of Defense Military Assistance Program--Grant-Aid shipments (for which separate figures are shown in the footnotes of this report), Mutual Security Program economic assistance shipments, and shipments of agricultural commodities under P.L. 480 (The Trade Development and Assistance Act of 1954, as amended) and related laws. (The separate information which is available on exports under P.L. 480 and related laws may be obtained from the Economic Research Service and the Foreign Agricultural Service of the Department of Agriculture.) Shipments to U.S. armed forces and diplomatic missions abroad for their own use are excluded from export statistics. U.S. trade with Puerto Rico and U.S. possessions is not included in this report, but the export trade of Puerto Rico with foreign countries is included as part of the U.S. export trade. Merchandise shipped in transit through the United States between foreign countries, not entered as imports, is not included in export statistics.

COUNTRY OF DESTINATION: Although the country of destination is defined as the country of ultimate destination or the country where the goods are to be consumed, further processed, or manufactured, the statistics do not always reflect this definition, as the shipper may not know the ultimate destination of the shipment. In such cases, the shipments are credited to the last country, as known to the exporter at the time of shipment from the United States, to which the goods are to be shipped in their present form.

VALUATION: The valuation definition used in the export statistics is the value at the seaport, border point, or airport of exportation. It is based on the selling price (or cost if not sold) and includes inland freight, insurance, and other charges to the port of exportation. Transportation and other costs beyond the U.S. port of exportation are excluded. None of the values have been adjusted for changes in price level.

RELIABILITY: The statistics presented in this report are based partly on sample data and therefore are subject to sampling variation that may cause them to differ somewhat from the results which would have been obtained from processing all export documents. For the figures shown in this report, the sampling variability can be ignored since the probable variability due to sampling is either less than $50,000 (the largest variation from rounding of figures) or less than a trivial percentage of the individual totals shown.

In addition to the effects of sampling variation, the data in this report are subject to errors from such sources as the carryover of data from month to month, errors in reporting or processing, the estimation of shipments valued under $100, and the omission of parcel post shipments valued under $50. Although the effect of such errors on the rounded totals in this report is probably small, the possibility of inaccuracy should be taken into account, particularly in using figures of relatively small magnitude.

Further information regarding coverage, valuation, compilation procedures and precision of export data is contained in the foreword of Reports FT 410 and FT 420. For complete statement, see foreword in Foreign Commerce and Navigation of the United States.

[1]For definitions of countries as used in this report, refer to current edition of Schedule C, Classification of Country Designations Used in Compiling the U.S. Foreign Trade Statistics, as amended by Public Bulletin C-1. [2]Country detail is not reported in the export statistics for Special Category commodities for security reasons. For certain areas, export totals include Special Categories, as shown at the beginning of the table. Export figures for other areas, continents, and countries represent total exports less exports of Special Category commodities. A list of the Special Category commodities is presented in the January 1965 issue of Report FT 410.
